

English II – World Literature
SUMMER READING ASSIGNMENT

Required Reading:

The Life of Pi by Yann Martel

All students are expected to read The Life of Pi. For this novel, the students will complete the following questions in a dialectical journal to be turned in on the first day of school. There will be a discussion and literary assignments about this book on the first day of school. Students may use their analysis questions for these first-day assignments, so it is important to answer them as completely and comprehensively as possible. You may complete this work on separate sheets of paper. Teachers will check all written work for plagiarism.

What is a dialectical journal? "A dialectical journal is a conversation between you and what you are reading. You simply write down passages that make you think or interest you and write about your thoughts. This process is an important way to understand a piece of literature." from: education.llnl.gov/bep/english/10/sdia.html

Directions: Read each and answer each question completely and comprehensively. Your opinion is important! Use quotes to explain your answers.

The Life of Pi

1. This novel relies upon animals as characters. Are the animals real, or do they symbolize characters in Pi's life? Which characters might the animals symbolize? Explain.
2. The story begins and ends with a psychological examination of Pi. Do you think Pi is delusional, or were the events he describes real? What does this mean for the book's narrative style?
3. Explain how Pi begins his identity transformation (Hint: His name). Why is this important?
